EXCERPT FROM THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS

If the officially admissible number of visitors is exceeded, the St. Kathrein thermal baths can, with the help of the responsible staff, forbid further visitors from entering. In these cases, those willing to visit have to expect waiting times. In this case, season and annual ticket holders cannot assert a general right of access. They are synchronized with the day guests with regard to the access sequence when guest capacities become free. The St. Kathrein Thermal Spa reserves the right to deny access to people whose admission to the bathing appears questionable without giving reasons.
